What Would Love Do Foundation Launches AwakeningLeader.org

Co-Founder Authors New Book on Leadership and Living Your Life's Purpose

Dayton, OH, USA (April 10, 2015) – The What Would Love Do Foundation announces co-founder, Christine Horner, has penned a new book, Awakening Leadership: Embracing Mindfulness, Your Life's Purpose, and the Leader You Were Born to Be. The book is scheduled to publish by In the Garden Publishing on June 15, 2015.

In an effort to provide inspiration and support to readers and organizations who wish to embrace the New Leadership Paradigm, the foundation has launched www.AwakeningLeader.org as an outreach, and to celebrate the potential contained within every individual.

“Human advancement requires the realization that each one of us has an essential role to fulfill to lead humanity into a new era of true equality and prosperity,” says 2014 Dayton Literary Peace Prize nominated Christine Horner. “When we reconnect with each other and the planet, we unleash infinite possibility within ourselves and our species.”

The website encourages visitors to post their personal awakening leadership stories and to read other member stories so they begin to recognize leadership opportunities within the lives they are already leading. “Awakening the leader within you will inspire you to immediately begin living your life on purpose toward building a better world,” says Horner. “It’s time for humanity to thrive!”
